Forecast for Saturday 20 Aug 2022

Weather: Patchy low cloud may form during the early hours but this should lift soon after dawn. Some clear sunny spells are possible through the morning but cloud will slowly build with the odd shower developing, most showers will be light until late afternoon when heavier, perhaps prolonged with a small risk of thunder may affect the park. Skies may begin to slowly clear through the evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 70% at first, soon becoming 100%

Low cloud and visibility: Patchy low cloud overnight down to 300-400m giving very poor visibility with nearby landmarks obscured, this soon clearing after dawn. Moderate to poor in showers with nearby hills briefly difficult to make out. Otherwise visibility generally very good with distant hills clearly visible.
